

Prepping for Departure

RUTGERS SASHP NEWSLETTER

Wednesday, April 27, 2022

Dear SAS Honors Program Students,

Believe it or not, this is my second to last newsletter. And while I'll do a more thorough sendoff on Monday, I wanted to talk about something else that I've been prepping for over the past few days... finals. We're finally approaching the season of tests, stress, and a scheduling mess, and it's best to start reviewing material, asking your professors questions, and writing your outlines now. Pick a nice study space, put on some music, and get cozy: you've got this. And on the other side of these exams/projects is summer, so keep your head up!

And if you happen to need a distraction we've got just the thing for you. Test your knowledge against SASHP peers (and maybe win some honors swag) at the upcoming SASHP Trivia Night. Start your networking journey off right by stopping by Rutgers Day's Honors Alumni Gathering. Need some more tips on finals prep? Do it Disney style with our newest SASHP blog post.

Warm Regards,
Justin Confalone

Events/Announcements

SASHP Trivia Night

Test your knowledge (and win some honors swag) at the upcoming SASHP Trivia Night. This HPL-hosted event takes place next Mon, May 2 at 7 PM EST in the McCormick Lounge. First place will receive an SASHP windbreaker, second will receive an SASHP gym bag, and third place will receive an SASHP umbrella. Bubble tea and pizza will be provided at this stress-free night right before finals.

Honors Alumni Gathering

As a senior approaching graduation, I cannot help but see the value of networking/building a community with alumni. Fortunately, the SASHP is hosting an Honors Alumni Gathering on Rutgers Day (April 30). This event, taking place from 3:30 PM - 4:30 PM in Deiner Park (behind the river dorms on College Ave), will give seniors the opportunity to chat with the honors alumni community (and provide a gift + light refreshments). Interested students can simply show up the day of.

New Blog Post: Cruising Through Finals Disney Style

"Finals are just around the corner, and the dread is slowly creeping up on all students, irrespective of schools and majors," writes author Anna Kumar. "Here are eleven tips to help you keep swimming through finals season." Read the full post (just in time for finals season) here.
