RUTGERS SASHP NEWSLETTER

Wednesday, February 27, 2019

Dear SAS Honors Program Students,

Although it feels like winter break ended just a week ago, there's no denying that we're well into the semester. Now is an opportunity to check in with yourself and make sure you're on track. Are you scheduling adequate time to complete your work? Are you pursuing the leadership opportunities that interest you? Are you balancing your social and academic lives? Hopefully, you feel confident in your progress here at Rutgers. Even if you don't, it's never too late to re-evaluate and get back on track.

Here are some events coming up to further your progress. Join the Artists Collective for a photography workshop. Learn about the Cold War by attending the Visiting Filmmaker Series: The American Sector (2018). Attend a live hip hop performance sponsored by WRSU, Rutgers Radio. Are you looking for an opportunity to study abroad? Check out the European Summer Institute. Juniors: learn about honors resources and requirements your academic meeting on Friday. Show off your artistic side by contributing to the SASHP open call for art. If you're a first-year student interested in banking or finance, check out the Guggenheim Securities Investment Banking Freshman Day on the Job. Become a part of the SASHP Media Team leadership by applying for the Digital Historian position.

From all of us here at the SASHP, happy hump day!

With warmest regards,
Julianna Rossano
Student Director of Honors Media
