RUTGERS SASHP NEWSLETTER

Wednesday, November 6, 2019

Dear SAS Honors Program Students,

As my first semester of senior year draws to a close, I've been thinking a lot about whether or not I've accomplished the goals I set for myself. And if I have, did I enjoy the journey? Rutgers has offered me a unique and memorable experience. I've shared a table with friends at midnight breakfast, run the Big Chill every year, travelled abroad, and even saw a talk by my favorite author. I crossed off all the major items on my RUcket list, but I'd still like to visit the Busch observatory. I've achieved my own definition of success at Rutgers, and I also had fun along the way.

Here are some fun events coming up. Join the North Tower PMIR for a course scheduling workshop. Seniors: learn about resources for life beyond Rutgers at the Senior Academic Meeting and swing by 35 College Ave for a capstone report workshop. If you have questions about advising, ask your Honors advising dean or stop by drop-in advising with Dean Kim-Lee. Check out informative panels hosted by the Eagleton Institute of Politics. Hear from student political protestors at the Hong Kong Democracy Panel. Looking to socialize with honors students and deans? Join the PLIM to Get "S'more" Info from Dean Keeton! Learn about internship opportunities and how to get hired at the Internship Success Panel. If you have a passion for serving, check out the Key into Public Service Scholarship. Check out the Artists Collective's schedule of events for November. If you have a passion for creativity, join the SASHP Video Production Team. Read about the accomplishments of past SASHP students in this month's Honors Alumni Spotlight. As you're planning your courses for the spring semester, consider one of our Honors Global Experiences.

From all of us at the SASHP, enjoy the day!

With warmest regards,
Julianna Rossano
Student Director of Honors Media
