RUTGERS SASHP NEWSLETTER

Wednesday, February 12, 2020

Dear SAS Honors Program Students,

Although I don't consider myself a musical person, I spend a lot of time making playlists. I imagine soundtracks to books I read, lists of songs to suit an emotion, and even playlists for a specific activity like bus rides or studying. When I graduated from high school, I made a few of my best friends playlists that reminded me of them. I burned them to CDs and collaged some cover art. Songs can remind you of a person, place, or time in your life. Next time you hear a new song you like, consider how it makes you feel and add it to a playlist!

Here are some fun events coming up. Join the Artists Collective for an Acting Workshop. Do you enjoy reading these newsletters? Apply to be the next Newsletter Editor. Learn about the Gardner Fellowship program at the next Happening @ 35. Celebrate Black History Month by checking out a full list of university programming. Hear from award-winning author Garth Greenwell at the next installment of Writers at Rutgers. Join the Honors Peer Mentors for Bubble Tea and Trivia! Buy your ticket for the annual SASHP Winter Formal! Show off your artistic talent by contributing to the upcoming Artists Collective Exhibit. Find out what you can do with your summer at the panel School's Out. Now What?

From all of us at the SASHP, enjoy the day!

With warmest regards,
Julianna Rossano
Student Director of Honors Media
